

2006 Gasification Technologies Conference

The annual gasification technologies conference, sponsored by the Gasification Technologies Council (www.gasification.org), is the nation's leading conference on coal and biomass gasification. Diversified Energy Corporation was invited to speak on HydroMax, an advanced gasification technology under development at the company, at the 2006 conference held in Washington DC. The conference set an attendance record with well over 900 experts in the field of gasification technologies and projects. The company also sponsored a booth, shown in the picture.
